

Machinery and transport

With the knowledge to take full responsibility

The core of BDX's business is earth removal, planning, loading, unloading, transporting, trenching and hoisting. For both shorter or longer projects we have the right machines and transport vehicles to manage the task.

We always establish resource budgets and schedules for each project. This means that we can always submit a well drafted plan for project implementation.

Why use BDX for machinery and transport?

With a well-developed mode of operation across the whole chain from management, planning, vehicles and personnel we can with efficiency and quality control take overall responsibility for both large and small machinery and transport services.
